GRIFFS CRACK IN THIRD ROUND, LOSE 8-3--- "BABE" GETS FIRST HOMER OF SEASON.

Seven Runs Scored by Sox When Zack and Team "Blow"

Jezebel Loses Control and Errors Make Matters Worse-Gharrity Poles Couple Of Three Base Hits.

By JACK NYE.

Determined to take the deciding game of the series from the Red Sox, Manager McBride gave all his slabbers the double-o yesterday afternoon and finally selected Jezebel Zachary as the proper person to administer the knockout drops. Jez's work during the training season led to the conclusion that he was primed to win.

But in the third inning Jez began to act in a strange manner. He "blew" in tragic style. At the same time his support cracked badly. Given such an opening, Manager Duffy's men were quick to take advantage and piled up seven runs before Cuby Acosta finally brought the round to a finish. That one inning decided the old ball game, though the final score was 8 to 3.

Eliminate that unfortunate round+ and you have a regular ball game. The Griffmen, as usual, outbatted their rivals, gathering ten hits off Herb Thormahlen, the tall southpaw late of the New York Yanks. Two of these blows were solid triples by Pat Gharrity, who appears to be out after slugging honors. So many hits are usually good for more than three runs, but Herb had a habit of tightening up in the pinches that was disconcerting. Four, of the seven Boston hits came in that disastrous third, after which time they didn't do much with Acosta and Jim Shaw, who worked the final two rounds after Bing Miller had batted for Cuby.

That big explosion was typical of what is likely to happen in any of these spring games. Here are the horrible details:

That Big Inning.

Muddy Ruel noted Zachary's ten-dency to be wild and refused to swing his bat. He drew a base on balls to open the inning. Thormahlen laid down a bunt in front of the plate and was safe when Gharrity pulled Judge off the bag with a wild peg. McBride's hope that Jez would steady down was only a hope, for the southpaw lost no time in giving Vitt a free ticket to first. This filled the bases and Jez was in a precarious position.

At such a critical juncture another error added to his embarrassment. Harris took in Menosky's grounder and tagged Vitt on the line, but the impact knocked the pill from his paw. Ruel scored on the play and the sacks were still the sacks were sacks were still the sacks were sacks were sacks were still the sacks were sac to open the inning. Thorthe play and the sacks were still filled to overflowing. Hendryx relieved the crowded condition somewhat by scoring Thormahlen and Vitt with a rap to left, and Jez got the high sign to visit the shower.

Acosta came in to save the day, but things grew worse when Pratt drove a hot single to center and raveled to third when Sam Rice let it ooze through his nether limbs.
This wallop was a ticket home for Menosky and Hendryx. Pratt also scored a minute later on Collins three bases. Shanks threw McInnis out and Scott singled, but Ruel and Thormahlen, both batting for the second time in the round, were retired on easy flies.

That's the long, long story. It might have been worse, but we seventh when Menosky walked and tripped homeward on Pratt's single.

Griffa Held in Caeca.

Griffmen's three runs were sistent performers during the inches of the first in the openmeets. Archer has done six feet inches but his teammate

Gharrity opened the ninth with another three-sacker, this time to the signboard in right center, and counted on Judge's infield out.

The presence of Del Pratt has done much to strengthen the Beantown infield. The former Yank performed in brilliant style, handling eleven chances in the field without formed in brilliant style, handling discus throw and "Red" Barron of eleven chances in the field without Georgia Tech has been doing as well eleven chances in the field without an error. In the eighth he made a great running catch of Shanks' foul fly to right, and held the ball despite a head-on crash with Tim Hendryx. Tim got all the worst of it, for Del came up smiling, while the outfielder took the count of meet than in previous meets on activities. mine from a blow over the eye. He refused to leave the game. Washington fans got their first glimpse of Deeby Foss in action in the ninth, when he batted for Shaw. He failed to get a hit, driving a hot grounder to Vitt, who tossed him

Despite the gloomy day, some 6,000 fans turned out to see the battle.

Here's Manager McBride's Hustling Infield

Smooth infield work is one of the biggest factors in a winning baseball team and Manager McBride appears to have a combination this eason that will be hard to beat. It has started out in great shape. Judge and Harris rank with the best at their positions in the major leagues. Frank O'Rourke is putting up a great game at short and Hank Shanks is delivering the usual goods at third base. All of these boys can hit, field and run bases. What more do you want?
